Certified Public Accountant (CPA) since 2009

A Certified Public Accountant (CPA) is an individual who had passed the uniform CPA examination administered by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and who has received state certification to practice accounting. In Missouri, the minimum academic, testing and practice requirements are 150 credit hours of college education, including a baccalaureate degree, with at least 60 credit hours in business and at least 33 of those 60 hours must be in accounting, including at least one auditing course. The CPA exam is divided into four parts: Financial & Reporting, Auditing & Attestation, Regulation, and Business Environment & Concepts. Additionally, there is typically a certain number of hours of required continuing education each year.
